2026 Undergraduate Programs

2026 MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN

Shenandoah Conservatory at Shenandoah University: We Are What's Next!

At Shenandoah Conservatory, you have the best of both worlds – intensive conservatory training within a vibrant and innovative university. This setting provides a unique opportunity to hone your craft as an artist while exploring a wide array of subjects and resources provided by the university.

The performing arts disciplines of music, theatre, and dance invite us to explore the full depth and breadth of human experience. You will find yourself surrounded by ambitious, talented peers who dream big, work hard, and are motivated to become the very best they can be.

For 150 years, Shenandoah Conservatory has remained committed to training the next generation of performers, composers, educators, therapists, and technicians through an exciting array of nationally recognized programs. With specialized programs of study in music, theatre, and dance, a thriving environment of curiosity and collaboration is created in classrooms, clinics, rehearsal spaces, on stages, and through research projects. Our faculty and staff are accomplished teaching artists, performers, composers, designers, and scholars who care deeply about each student. With artistic and academic excellence at the core of your conservatory experience, you may also choose to study or travel abroad, and to collaborate with peers across the university. Relationships and partnerships that form during undergraduate study can (and often do) last a lifetime – building successful networks to support your goals.

As you embark upon this next phase in your journey, it is important to remember that each college or university is unique. Selecting the right place for the next step in your artistic and educational development will shape your future in profound ways.

What's next for us? You are! We are eager to help you explore the many opportunities that await at Shenandoah Conservatory and hope to welcome you here.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Smolos Steele, Ph.D.
Dean and Professor of Music

Music At Shenandoah

- Conservatory graduates hold positions with national and international symphony orchestras, chamber ensembles, opera companies, military bands and the finest school districts, recording studios, music therapy practices and arts organizations in the country.
- Conservatory alumni gain acceptance into prestigious graduate schools and highly acclaimed programs throughout the country and abroad, including the Chautauqua Institute, Kneisel Hall, Aspen Music Festival, Eastern Music Festival, The Pierre Montoux School, Adamant and Idyllwild.
- We celebrate a tradition of excellence in music education and proudly boast a 97% job placement rate. Our music education alumni are highly successful teachers, performers, composers and music supervisors. Students choose their emphasis (choral – general, instrumental – classical, or instrumental – jazz) and all have the opportunity to teach at the elementary, middle school and high school levels prior to graduation.
- Shenandoah's renowned composition faculty specialize in new music, and their work is performed worldwide. Students' original works are routinely performed by conservatory faculty and student ensembles.
- The Bachelor of Arts in Collaborative Audio Arts curriculum is designed for students who are interested in obtaining a broad general education while continuing to pursue their passion for music recording and sound technology.
- In our newest program, the Bachelor of Arts in Contemporary Musicianship & Entrepreneur Development, students develop the exceptional technological, business, marketing, entrepreneurial, and musical skills and innovative mindset they need to forge careers in the contemporary music industry.

Collaborative Audio Arts

Bachelor of Arts

The Bachelor of Arts in Collaborative Audio Arts is designed for students who are interested in a broad general education while continuing to pursue their passion for music recording and sound technology.

Working with faculty advisors, students define their professional goals and plan coursework to match. Possible areas of exploration include but are not limited to:

- Music Recording (concert recording and studio work)
- Sound Reinforcement (live sound for soloists, ensembles, bands and theatre)
- Augmented/Virtual Reality (audio recording and production for AR/VR delivery environments)
- Film and Video (audio recording and postproduction for film and video)
- Individualized Concentration (in one or more complementary fields; crafted by the student)

Our newest degree program provides a holistic education in contemporary music styles (pop, rock, gospel, country, soul, electronic, and rhythm & blues) combined with an embedded minor in entrepreneurship from our School of Business. You'll graduate with not only a professional portfolio and a deep understanding of music itself, but also with a clear understanding of the music industry and the skills you need to operate in the contemporary music market.

Coursework crosses subject areas, with classes not only in music foundations, performance, and songwriting, but also business, marketing, entrepreneurship and technology. You will collaborate with students in a wide variety of programs, including music production & recording technology, jazz & commercial music, performing arts leadership & management, psychology, business administration, media & communication and more.

You'll also perform as part of an ensemble with a repertoire that spans multiple genres as well as original works written by you and your classmates.

Jazz & Commercial Music

Bachelor of Music (jazz music emphasis)

- Double Bass
- Electric Bass
- Electric Guitar
- Percussion
- Piano
- Saxophone
- Trombone
- Trumpet

The newly crafted three-year, 120-credit Bachelor of Music in Jazz & Commercial Music program offers an accelerated plan focused on performance and entrepreneurship preparing artists for today's music world. Students can also complete the degree in the traditional four years and consider adding certificates or minors outside of the conservatory. The program blends study in improvisation, arranging, jazz history, teaching techniques and jazz theory within a collaborative environment where intense music study is combined with elective offerings in business and technology. Our alumni are successfully engaged as performers, arrangers, composers, business leaders and teachers in the broad field of contemporary music, which includes jazz, popular, commercial, classical and studio music.

You'll learn from inspiring performers and passionate teachers, and interact with a vibrant community of jazz and classical musicians. You'll also record tracks in a world-class recording studio, perform alongside guest artists chosen from the best in the world, enjoy clinic opportunities with guest lecturers and travel internationally on exciting and rewarding performance tours.

Our Bachelor of Arts in Music degree is made for anyone who wants to earn a music degree while also taking courses in other disciplines.

You can earn a B.A. in Music in three years or create a double-major track to earn your degrees in four years. You will study music in a conservatory as well as combine your music major with a major or minor from another academic program.

Working closely with faculty advisors, B.A. in Music students map out course schedules to find a suitable balance between music and their academic emphasis, structuring a plan that appropriately fits the needs of the chosen degree focus.

Songwriting Certificate

Our songwriting certificate is designed for students who want to develop their ability to write and produce their own music. It can be paired with most Shenandoah Conservatory degrees.

Songwriting certificate students study lyric construction, melody, harmony and entrepreneurial strategies as they apply to the many genres of popular music. These skills, paired with a deepened appreciation of diverse artistic traditions and their histories and challenges, prepare them to create and perform within an increasingly multifaceted arts market.

PERFORMING GROUPS & COLLABORATION

Performing Groups

Shenandoah Conservatory is home to more than 30 instrumental, choral, dance and theatre performing groups. On-campus venues include Armstrong Concert Hall, Goodson Chapel-Recital Hall, Ohrstrom-Bryant Theatre (proscenium stage), Glaize Studio Theatre (black box), the Harold Herman Lab Theatre and Shenandoah's outdoor amphitheater. Students also perform at multiple venues across the Northern Shenandoah Valley (including historic Winchester's Bright Box Theater) and around the world.

Most performing groups are open by audition to all SU students regardless of degree. Some examples include:

ShenCoLAB

A powerful collaborative spirit lives at the very heart of the Shenandoah Conservatory experience. This is evidenced not only through the tremendous amount of collaborative work that occurs within ensembles and other performance settings, but also through our ShenCoLAB, during which classes are cancelled for a week to allow students to work across disciplines on self-directed, time-limited projects fueled by their own passion, drive and curiosity.

“Collaboration is an essential skill for the contemporary artist...whether you are in theatre, music or dance, the future of contemporary arts lies in creative, collaborative work between friends and colleagues...not only will you increase your reach to new audiences and open doors to new performance avenues, but you will contribute to a world of fresh, new ideas about what the arts can be and what they can communicate to the world.”

—Erica Helm, MFA
Associate Professor of Dance &
Coordinator for Theatre & Dance Recruitment

THEATRE

Shenandoah's theatre programs prepare students for professional careers both on and off stage. Our rigorous programs equip students for successful careers in theatre, film, television and new media.

Theatre At Shenandoah

- Students are nurtured and challenged by our professionally acclaimed faculty, whether they major in performance or design and technical areas. The faculty works closely with students and challenges them to grow as theatrical practitioners.
- We engage theatre students from the first day they arrive on campus. An eight-show season, including three musicals, three plays, and a Holiday Gala, keeps students active and involved. First-year students audition and may be cast.
- Our acting students learn the Sanford Meisner Technique from accomplished master teachers in the craft.
- Students have the opportunity to work with the Shenandoah Center for Immersive Learning as role players and members of a creative team exploring new applications for augmented and virtual reality environments.
- Between auditions, production and classroom work, our students graduate with a competitive edge in an ever-changing art form.
- Our theatre alumni work on Broadway, in regional theatres, national and international tours, and in cruise ship entertainment; in film, television and commercials; and in design and technical fields across the entertainment industry.

Acting Bachelor of Fine Arts

The Bachelor of Fine Arts in Acting is designed to ignite your imagination and unleash your creative instinct. Our program delivers precision-based Meisner training alongside studies in additional styles, and we use effective contemporary techniques to prepare you for a professional career that includes self-generated work and the development of an artistic community.

During your time at Shenandoah, you will be immersed in every facet of actor training and experience hands-on studies in all areas of performance and production. At the end of your four years, you will emerge as a well-rounded theatre artist prepared to operate effectively both as a professional in our complex and ever-evolving industry and as a member of a diverse society.

Musical Theatre Bachelor of Fine Arts

Our musical theatre program transforms young artists into working professionals. You will hone your skills in acting, dance and singing while learning how to build the career of your choice based on your unique point of view. Led by Broadway veterans who have been in your shoes and made it to the other side, and augmented by industry professionals who regularly visit campus to cultivate and scout young talent, the program at SU is one of a kind. Our students, faculty and staff value diversity and are committed to building a community that reflects the world around us so we can share our experiences with others and communicate the human experience through theatre. The program is also consistently ranked in the top ten in the country.

Musical Theatre Accompanying

Bachelor of Music

Shenandoah Conservatory is home to the nation's oldest and most successful undergraduate degree in musical theatre accompanying. As a student, you'll complete coursework in musical theatre, classical styles and jazz, preparing you to work professionally in the stylistically diverse musical theatre industry. Students perform as members of the pit orchestra as well as for senior repertoire and showcase coursework, all the while focusing on the complete range of musical theatre repertoire from operetta to current pop/rock. You'll have opportunities to play for up to three musical productions each year, as well as accompany solo vocal artists and play for auditions, classes and other music ensembles.

Theatre Design & Production

Bachelor of Fine Arts

In the Bachelor of Fine Arts in Theatre Design and Production program, you will follow your passion and learn the art of theatrical storytelling. Through a diverse curriculum, you will be challenged to find your inner artist and develop skills and hands-on experience that will enable you to start your professional career.

The B.F.A. degree prepares you to work professionally in both design and technical positions in many different areas in the industry as well as related fields. You will discover what it means to be a proficient, working member of a production team in the entertainment industry.

Students specialize in one of six emphases:

- Costume Design
- Lighting Design
- Scenic Design
- Sound Design & Reinforcement
- Stage Management
- Technical Production

Students may also earn a certificate in a secondary area of emphasis if they wish to do so.*

THE PERFORMING ARTS ENRICH ALL SPACES — REAL AND VIRTUAL

The performing arts can play a uniquely exciting role in the digital realm and its associated extended realities, which have a significant presence at Shenandoah. We have not only one of the nation's best academic esports programs, but also a robust Division of Advanced Technology featuring several virtual reality design programs as well as the Shenandoah Center for Immersive Learning, which empowers creators to establish human-to-human connectivity within mixed realities.

Shenandoah Conservatory students have worked in the virtual reality realm as performers, composers, writers, directors and more. In 2021, the conservatory and the esports program paired to co-present "We Play Together: A Collaboration Between Music and Esports." This seminal, cross-disciplinary project explored the similarities in practice, pedagogy and performance in music and esports.

Virtual Reality Design Certificate & Virtual Reality Design Minor

The 21-24 credit virtual reality certificate, designed for students majoring in another field, provides a broad foundation in augmented and virtual reality tools, systems and methods, as well as experience working on real projects. Additionally, Shenandoah offers an 18-credit virtual reality design minor open to all university students.

DANCE

Shenandoah's dance programs provide the academic and professional preparation demanded by a wide variety of career options in dance.

Bachelor Of Fine Arts

The BFA is for the highly motivated, pre-professional dancer who is seeking a career as a concert performer, choreographer or dance educator.

Bachelor Of Arts

The BA is designed for dancers who are targeting a career in business, arts leadership and advocacy, history, social or laboratory sciences, applied technology, critical/creative writing or a health-related profession, and who wish to advance their dance training at a high level alongside their chosen academic focus.

Minor Dance

Dance At Shenandoah

- Our students dance a wide repertoire of artistic styles and techniques. They perform in original choreography created by faculty and internationally recognized guest artists. New works choreographed by students are performed both on campus and in a wide variety of other venues, which have included professional showcases in Washington, D.C., and New York City.
- Students in the dance program are immersed in their art from the moment they arrive on campus. The intimate conservatory education provides a focused environment for study, while the supportive atmosphere encourages individual growth and creativity.
- Both the BFA and BA degree programs develop creative and production skills while enriching philosophical and theoretical perspectives in close, mentoring relationships with the dance faculty.
- Graduates of the BFA program are performing with concert dance companies, on cruise lines, and with national and international tours of Broadway productions; teaching in private studios, public schools and universities; and directing their own companies.
- Graduates of the BA program apply their multi-faceted education as arts administrators, studio owners, and therapists as well as to other arts-and wellness-related professions.

Accelerated Performing Arts Leadership & Management (PALM) Graduate Program

Undergraduate students pursuing a degree in music, theatre or dance have the ability to expand their skill sets by adding on our Master of Science in Performing Arts Leadership & Management online program. Students learn the business side of the performing arts world by learning how to work with a board of directors, manage budgets and nonprofits, market for the arts community, and more. Required summer internships frequently occur at prestigious arts organizations and students participate in a 10-day Summer Arts Leadership Institute in Athens, Greece.

ALL-STEINWAY SCHOOL

Shenandoah Conservatory's designation as an All-Steinway School reinforces our long-standing reputation as a leader in performing arts education. We are proudly part of an elite group of 21 conservatories in the world that have earned All-Steinway status.

These instruments exemplify our commitment to excellence in arts education and are placed in teaching studios, practice rooms, music classrooms and rehearsal and concert halls.

HOW FAR YOU WILL GO...

Jalen Mims '23

BM - Music Performance (Clarinet)

Jalen has been accepted to the prestigious Bard College in Annandale-on-Hudson, NY, for her master's degree in clarinet performance. While at Shenandoah, Jalen was a finalist in the Concerto Competition and served as principal clarinet of both the orchestra and the wind ensemble. Jalen also sang with the Harambee Gospel Choir and traveled with the orchestra to Argentina.

Avery Sedlaceck '20

BFA - Acting

Based in New York City, Avery is signed with Buchwald talent agency, where he is a part of its TV, film, and theatre division. Avery creates original work with his peers in New York, as well as in Los Angeles and Atlanta. This past summer, Avery wrote, produced, and starred in his own short film that will be submitted to 16 film festivals around the globe. Avery also plans to collaborate with fellow alumni to direct a new production at the Tank Theatre in Manhattan.

Brody Grant '21 BFA - Musical Theatre

Nominated for the 2024 Tony Award for Best Performance by an Actor in a Leading Role in a Musical for his work as Ponyboy Curtis in Broadway's "The Outsiders," Brody won the Theatre World Award and was nominated for a Grammy as well as the Drama Desk AND Theatre League awards. Brody originated the role of Ponyboy in the musical's world premiere at the La Jolla Playhouse in California before the production moved to Broadway, earning 12 Tony Award nominations including Best Musical. Brody also appeared in "Parade" at New York City Center and, as an independent recording artist, his music can be found on Instagram @brody_grant.

Bailey Kinsella '23

BM - Music Education w/ Performance Certificate

A skilled vocalist and music educator, Bailey shares her energy, talent and passion for music at Bren Mar Park Elementary School in Fairfax County, VA, teaching K-5 general music and leading the 4th & 5th grade choir. She is also the color guard director for Edison High School. During her time at Shenandoah, Bailey won the 2022 Student Soloist Competition, and served in leadership roles in student chapters of NAFME and ACDA. She sang with the Conservatory Choir and the Shenandoah Chorus, and served as the State Collegiate VMEA president.

Amry Truitt '23

BM - Music Production & Recording Technology

Upon graduating, Amry interned at Blackbird Studios in Nashville where she was privileged to serve as an assistant engineer on a project for Tokyo DisneySea. Currently a staff engineer at Sound Emporium Studios in Nashville, Amry is learning from distinguished professionals and enhancing her expertise as an audio engineer. Her studio, Amry Muse Audio, has quickly evolved into a reputable and sought-after service for clients both locally and nationally. In addition to her engineering endeavors, Amry continues to play the saxophone and has recently found a deep appreciation for jazz, incorporating it within her work.

Jamie Shegogue '23

BM - Bachelor of Music Therapy

Jamie Shegogue '23, LPMT, MT-BC has been appointed as the first Pediatric ICU Music Therapist at the Johns Hopkins Children's Center in Baltimore, Maryland, expanding the presence of music therapy at Johns Hopkins. Shegogue's appointment focuses on critical care and end-of-life support for children and their families and is an exciting expansion of the music therapy program. During her years at Shenandoah, Jamie was a beloved student leader and mentor for her peers within the music therapy program and the conservatory at large.

Ian Sabatine '24

BFA - Dance

Ian Sabatine is thrilled to be one of the newest members of Odyssey Dance Theatre, based in Salt Lake City, Utah, where he will be performing with fellow SU alumni Lily Farrar (BFA '21) and Kiki Ducusin (BFA '24). In addition to dancing in numerous productions for faculty and guest artist choreographers, including Tiffanie Carson, Daniel Padierna, Shylo Martinez, and Katie Vickers, Ian was invited to travel and perform in Japan with members of the Shenandoah Conservatory's violin studio. Following his graduation in May, Ian and 27 other members of the Dance Division departed for a three-week performance and study tour in Greece.
